Why Canada Needs More Money

UP to date the war has cost Canada about $700,000,000.

Canada has spent in Canada over $400,000,000 on her own account.

Canada has spent in Canada on behalf of Great Britain over $300,000,000.

What Canada spends for Great Britain is really loaned to Great Britain and will be repaid or credited to Canada later on.

Great Britain needs so much ready cash to finance her own expenditures at home for herself and for our Allies that she must buy on credit from Canada, and from every other country where she can get credit.

Of course Great Britain's credit is so good that other countries, in order to get her trade, are quite as willing to give her credit as we are in Canada.

Canada wants to help Great Britain not only because Canada wants Britain's trade but because we are Canada and she is Great Britain—both members of the same great Empire, kin of our kin, our motherland.

For Canada it is both a filial and patriotic duty to supply Great Britain's war needs and remember, her needs are our needs. Also it is in Canada's self-interest to supply those needs and thus keep open a market for our products.

Now, Britain needs our wheat, our cheese, cattle, hogs, and many manufactured articles.

Canada also needs many of these things—between the two it amounts to more than a million dollars a day in cash.

And the producers must be paid in cash.

Neither Canada nor Great Britain could go to a Canadian farmer and buy his wheat or his cattle on credit.

The farmer and all other producers might be ever so willing to give their country credit but they could not do it because they have to pay cash for wages, for rent, materials, etc. They must be paid in cash, or its equivalent.

So Canada says to Great Britain:—"I will lend you the money so that you can pay cash to Canada's producers for what you want."

"I will borrow this money from our own people just as you borrow money from your people."

"I will also borrow from the people of Canada money to pay cash for all the products that Canada, as well as Great Britain, needs in Canada."

That is Canada's practical, patriotic part in helping to win the war.

Without this credit the Canadian producer could not sell to Great Britain, and without these Canadian products the war would be prolonged.

So it is necessary for Canada to give to Great Britain the credit in order that Canada's own producers, who need a market, will have one; and in order that Great Britain which needs the products to win the war, will get them.

Now how does Canada get the money by which both Canada and Britain can pay cash for Canada's products?

By borrowing it from the people of Canada through the sale of Canada's Victory Bonds to be offered in November.

That is why Canada's Victory Bonds are offered to the people—to raise money to help to finish the war.

"Canada must keep her shoulder to the wheel even though it be a chariot of fire," and the way for Canada to keep her shoulder to the wheel is by buying

The Ford is Now Considered a Necessity for Large-Scale Farming

WHETHER you are doing work on a large scale, or a small scale, you endeavor to reduce the delays of your farm machinery to a minimum and save time. A Ford will assist you in doing these two things.

If your tractor runs short of gasoline, the Ford will bring a few cans right to the spot and greatly shorten the delay. Or if you need a repair, or some new plow points, you can "run" the errand to town and back in one-third the time it would take with a horse and rig.

With a Ford you can supervise the work on your ranch much more thoroughly. You can get your mail and supplies oftener, and take more enjoyment out of prairie life. A Ford will do all these things and many more, and at the same time save you money.

The strength and endurance of the Ford has been proved the world over. It is equal to the western roads and the distances.

The Ford is the car for the Western Farmer.

Eliminating Waste

Publicity Campaign in U.S. to Convince Public of Necessity of Food Conservation

Plans are now being perfected for a widespread campaign to visualize publicity to convince the people of the United States of the necessity for food conservation. The plan is to use the best methods of food substitution.

Window displays in the retail stores all over the United States are to be used to tell in the most forceful way possible the aims of the United States Food Administration. The helpful co-operation necessary for the success of this plan is being secured through the various mercantile associations of the country and the response already received is such as to guarantee the most complete success ever reached by any such plan of publicity and education.

In part this great educational campaign will be conducted in the form of a contest, with prizes for the best window displays, under the supervision of the United States Food Administration, as representative of the trade papers of the nation. The voluntary services of the various mercantile associations have been secured through Elbridge L. Howe, of the national retail dry goods association, who is now working in Washington with the food administration. The plans perfected have been submitted to the food administration.

The basis of awards will be the character of the displays, their educational value, their artistic merit and attractiveness. Each display must be of such a character as to impress the public with the importance of eliminating waste in the use of all foods, and of substituting certain foods available in this country for those heretofore commonly used without restriction, but now badly needed for the maintenance of our allies in the war. The contest will close October 21.

All displays are to be governed by the briefly defined principles of the administration that our national policy is to feed our allies this winter by sending them as much food as we can of the most concentrated nutritive value in the least shipping space. These foods are such as wheat, dairy products and sugar. The portion of the problem, as defined by the food administration is for our people to eat less of these foods, and more of other foods of which we have abundance, and to waste less of all foods.

The success of the plan for this educational campaign does not rest entirely upon the efforts of the merchants have said that while they have no desire to participate in the window contest, they are willing to make their displays a patriotic contribution to a cause the importance of which they recognize.

The window displays are to be carried next week throughout the country. The plan is for displays to remain unchanged for at least three days, and arrangements have been made to photograph the best windows.

Girls Slower Than Men

Are More Careful, However, According to Bank Officials

There is at present no woman officer of a New York City bank, and only one in New Jersey, but if the war lasts long enough it will be, as it is in Canada now, that the banks will virtually be run by women. Already, in the United States, thousands of women have been taken on in the Wall Street district since the United States entered the war last April.

Women are slower, but more careful, said an official of the United States and Metals Bank, so, although twice as many women as men are needed to do the clearing house work, the bank loses no money on extra labor, because the women save hundreds of dollars which had to be paid to the clearing house for mistakes. Each mistake costs $1, and the records show that sometimes men's mistakes cost $25 or $30 a week.

The average downtown bank has lost 20 per cent of its clerical staff on 40 per cent women. The Mechanics and Metals Bank now has sixty women, and the First National Bank on ten and twenties each week. So far these sixty women are taking the place of thirty-six men, which shows the difference in rapidity but the official of the bank pointed out that it would be a serious problem when the men came back for their jobs.

"Our one hope is," he said, "that the business will be big enough then to accommodate them all."—New York Post.

The Psalm of the Allies
Not the ninety-third, but the ninety-fourth psalm, furnishes the right text for a sermon on German humanities in this war.

O Lord God, to whom vengeance belongeth, show Thyself.
Lift up Thyself, thou Father of the earth; render a reward to the proud.

Lord, how long shall the wicked, how long shall the wicked triumph? How long shall they say, we will not see thee, O Lord, and afflict Thine heritage.

They break in pieces Thy people, O Lord, and afflict Thine heritage. They slay the widow and the stranger, and murder the fatherless.

Yet they say, The Lord shall not see, neither shall the God of Jacob regard it.

That is the Psalm of the Allies.—From the New York Herald.

Too Academic
Sometimes, to be sure, the opening is so unfortunate as to incur instant resentment and possibly even refusal. Take the case of the diminutive man of kindly appearance who was accosted by a sedate purist with the words:

"Sir, I am looking for a little success."
"Well," snorted the wearer of the size 13-1-2 canvas, "do I look like one?"—Atlantic Journal.

"Old Fritz" on the Art of Reining

Said Kings Should Not Be Bothered With Religion

Apart from the widely known examples of Frederick the Great's duplicity and his lack of religious interest to recall some passages from his Instructions in the Art of Reining, which he gave to his nephew, Frederick William II. In that work he said:

Religion is absolutely necessary in a state, but it would not be very wise in a king to have any religion himself. Should it be necessary to make treaties with other powers, if we remember that we are Christians, we are undone; all would be over with us. As to war, it is a trade in which the least scruple would spoil everything.

"Do not suffer yourself to be dazzled by the word justice; it is a word that has different relations, and is susceptible of different constructions."

Understand by this word (politics) that we are ever to try to cheat others. This principle being established, the king should have no alliances, and of being yourself the only party that draws advantages from the situation. It is a great fault of not abandoning them whenever it is your interest to do so.

Have you a son? Let him be a soldier. Make boldly your approaches to crimes.

It is good policy to be perfectly persuaded that we have a right to everything that suits us.

When Prussia shall have made her fortune, it will be time enough for her to give herself an air of fidelity to engagements; an air which, at the moment, becomes none but great or little sovereigns.

How faithfully and effectively the present emperor has followed the precepts of "Old Fritz" the world knows only too well.

Hundreds Took Laborers' Job at Bethlehem to Dodge Draft

A jar is in store for the men who obtained work at the Bethlehem Steel company a good many months ago, with the idea that they could claim exemption from the draft on the score of being "munition workers."

This was decided upon, at the Philadelphia Record, at a meeting of the Lehigh county exemption board, which was held on Oct. 10.

Enemy Leaving no Food in Evacuated Region For Use

The discovery was only made when the French recently undertook the task of rendering these waterways navigable after the German destruction of bridges, locks, embankments and barges.

The necessity of draining dry many of the canals and portions of river beds rendered unusable by the Germans has brought to light the numerous fish traps, seine barriers and other appliances used by the Germans in order to catch absolutely every fish.

The Big Crop

Western Canada's Wheat Crop Estimated at 217 Million Bushels

An estimate of the crop of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, compiled by a special correspondent of the Associated Press, places the total yield of wheat of these three provinces at 217 million bushels; oats at 110 million; barley at 41 million; and flax at eight million bushels. These figures have been arrived at by personal observation and a result of travelling 5,000 miles by train and motor within the three provinces since the first of August.

United States Troops

And Kings

Witnesses in London Spectacle

One of the war correspondents of an American newspaper, who happened to be present in London when the troops of the United States passed through London, thus describes his impressions of the king George salute "Old Glory."

"I was anxious, however, to see the king's personal observation. I hurried up to the Mall in time to see his Majesty make his appearance with all the ceremony which is always dear to the democratic heart."

"As I saw him standing there, waiting for the troops to come, it occurred to me that there was just one more historic moment that was crowded into a succession of dramatic incidents that make one of the most significant chapters of the war."

Here you saw the head of the mightiest empire in the world waiting for a host of soldiers, who were themselves the symbol and the outposts of democracy. As the king rode, watching his kindly face, and realizing that he is represented all the more fully by England, I felt that and great moment had been set in the journey of the war. He was there as the emblem of democracy which is as free and frank as our own."

I noted the keenness with which he watched our troops, and the identity with which he stood at the salute; the sense of fine appreciation that the king's eyes reflected in the eyes of the people, and in a small way I felt some of the feeling that must have stirred the king's heart when he saw the men from farm and factory, representing all the races and peoples, but best of all, the proud old English star, which is the mother of them all."

I have only one regret about yesterday, and that is that the whole of our people could not see what I saw. It would have filled them with pride; it would have stirred them with hope; it would have thrilled them with a new fervor for the Great Cause, and they would have not dedicated themselves. To have beheld the spectacle of those splendid men, marching in a London's lanes of cheering humanity was to feel that Freedom is secure and that the world will be safe for democracy."

Breezelets

Politically, the News-Telegram and the Albertan have swapped places, and each designates the other as a "journalistic wabblor."

And now each "brother editor" is war-bling his compliments to the other just lovely.

Geo. Kuska'd of Ottawa has been appointed secretary of the war-construction committee.

It isn't stated whether he Kuska'd or not.

The general impression is that the kaiser and his crew have already had "The Day" they used to drink to.

The "government" of Russia changes as suddenly as the proverbial "On agin, off agin, on agin." Flanagan.

"European war the last great issue," says President Wilson.

Probably Pres. Wilson hasn't heard of Life Arthur Sifton who is running in the Medicine Hat constituency in the near dominion election.

Chinook Breezes

Better to work for victory than talk about it.

In the casualty lists this were: W. A. Still of Wiste, gassed; B. Morris of Cereal, wounded; C. E. Tupper of Oyen, wounded.

We have to apologise for the appearance of our first page this week. The government asks that this advertisement appears on the front page.

A convention of the Liberals of Medicine Hat constituency is called for Saturday next, Nov. 17th, at Medicine Hat, to select a candidate to oppose the Hon. A. L. Sifton.

Next Sunday evening there will be a song service at the Chinook church, so as to give the congregation an opportunity to get acquainted with the new book and tunes. Everybody welcome. Hymn books for all.

The evangelistic committee took charge of the Young Peoples meeting last week. Mr. Bray gave a five-minute talk on the Victory Loan. Rev. D. Simpson gave an address on the philosophy of Cheerfulness. Trio by Mr. and Mrs. Miller and Miss Rogers.

The village council is doing some good work by plowing and grading new roads into town both from the south and the north. These two approaches have been a source of trouble—particularly the one from the south-west—to the farmers coming into Chinook for some time. It will pay the village over and over again by taking care of its roads into town.

Chinook Literary Soc'y

The opening night of the newly organized Chinook Literary Society, which was held last Thursday, Nov. 8th, was well attended. The entertainment began on time at 8.30, before a well packed hall. Mr. Walter M. Crockett occupied the chair, assisted by Mr. Harvey, owing to the absence of the secretary.

The meeting opened with the reading of constitution which was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Lorne Proudfoot, the hon. president, then gave his address, dealing with the aims and the benefits derived from the Society. Victory Bonds being a live topic just now, J. A. McColl, M.P., gave an interesting talk on how to help and encourage our boys at the front by subscribing to the Victory Loan. After which the high school girls sang "We'll never let the old flag fall," which was well received. Other items on the program were:

Song - Mrs. McKenzie
Reading - Miss O'Connor
Reading - Miss Brown
Song - Chinook Quartette
Reading - Eunice Stephenson
Song - Mrs. McKenzie
Address - Mr. Bird
Press Reports - Mr. Stephenson
Song - Mr. and Mrs. Miller

After the entertainment, the floor was cleared and dancing took place.

The committee of the society wish to thank all those who took part in the entertainment.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 22nd, when a brisk step lively program will be presented.
